

RIF Worldwide Named in The Sunday Times 'Fast Track 100'

The continued growth and success of RIF Worldwide has been further cemented in being named in The Sunday Times 'Fast Track 100' listing on December 2nd 2007.

Sponsored by Sir Richard Branson's Virgin Group, 'The Fast Track 100' ranks Britain's hundred private companies with the fastest growing sales over the last three years. RIF attained listing in the top fifty, notching an impressive 47th national ranking position.

Speaking about the announcement, Scott Sully, Managing Director of RIF Worldwide said: "Achieving a place in the Fast Track is a massive achievement for RIF Worldwide. International freight and logistics is not a 'new industry'. Goods have been traded and shipped around the world for hundreds of years. So, the fact that our industry is 'mature' makes the achievement even more impressive".

The growth of RIF Worldwide in the UK has been 100% organic, with no 'strategic mergers' or buyouts playing a part in the growth figures.

Sean Fox, RIF Worldwide Operations Director, added, "We are a company at the top of our game. All areas of the business are run professionally, which makes us very stable for importers and exporters to do business with. However, I believe the main appeal of RIF is the vast array of services we have on offer. Our team have spent a lot of time getting 'inside' our clients businesses, so we really know what they want and what we can do to provide real benefits to their organization. These services then work for other clients too."

The mobile phone retailer Carphone Warehouse, chip designer ARM and tiling store Topps Tiles have all graduated to the quoted sector since featuring in the first Fast Track 100 in 1997. Many more companies from the league tables have become household names. The fashion retailers Boden and Fat Face, Cobra Beer, DIY specialist Focus DIY, foreign exchange operator Travelex and shoe designer Jimmy Choo have all featured in past tables.
